

Being a Part-time Lecturer at RACC

As a part-time lecturer at RACC you will be given the opportunity to work in a Grade 1 'Outstanding' College, alongside staff who are passionate about the subjects they teach. You will become part of a thriving College which has an important part to play in the local community. This is your chance to develop your teaching skills within a highly supportive and informative environment.

OFSTED reported in May 2010 that:

“Richmond Adult Community College is outstanding. Managers and governors demonstrate exceptional capacity to secure improvements for learners and to the quality of the provision. Learners’ achievements are excellent and have improved over the past year. Teaching and learning are good and learners gain in confidence and employability. The curriculum is more vocationally relevant and many programmes now lead to accreditation, preparing learners well for employment. At the same time, a strong focus on leisure programmes has been maintained. Outstanding collaborative work with a broad range of partners has ensured that the college acts as a valuable resource for the local community. The welcoming and adult atmosphere is highly appreciated by staff and learners of all ages, including the increasing number of 14 to 19-year-olds. Managers work in a climate of openness and transparency. Communication with the largely part-time workforce takes many forms and is good. Morale is high and staff show their commitment by placing the well-being and success of learners above all else. Standards of learners’ work are high and assessment is good.”

Many of our part-time lecturers have who work at the College report a high level of job satisfaction. They enjoy working in an adult college with an adult ethos. They value the benefits of being able to combine further study, family or other professional responsibilities with imparting their knowledge and expertise to learners who really want to benefit from their experience at College. They find this rewarding both personally and professionally.

As a part-time lecturer you will be responsible for preparing and delivering lessons and assessing your learners’ progress, maintaining student records and writing reports. You will help develop new courses with your line manager, writing course outlines and ensuring that administrative requirements are completed. You will help us to deliver the College’s mission which is to enable adults to unlock their potential through learning, skills and enterprise. We will have high expectations of you to deliver excellence and we will help you be the very best teacher you can be.

Join our community and make a difference to people’s lives.
